“The Choate building process was very smooth, at the end of day, we came out with very good feelings about Choate Custom Homes and what they did for us as our builder. We would definitely choose Choate to build again. We feel very good about our building experience.”

Tom and Jenny Cullen, Milford, MI

“We interviewed different builders and they all seemed to have restrictions on what we could and couldn't do and we ended up feeling trapped. When we met John Choate from Choate Custom Homes and he explained the Choate process in a way we could understand. The whole building process was relatively stress free. Every single room, nook and corner reflects who we are, our lifestyle and how we live our life. A lot of our friends that built with a production builder, now that they have seen our house, wish they had used a company like Choate Custom Homes. We would absolutely build with Choate again.”

Ketan Rana, M.D. and Lopa Rana, M.D., Troy, MI

“The overall building process went fairly smooth - you basically pick whatever you want. We really love the home that Choate Custom Homes built for us and we plan on staying here for a long time! We would recommend CCH for someone we knew that was looking to build, we were happy with their professionalism and the end result was great! We are really happy!”

Kevin and Kerri Koshkarian, Milford, MI

“The building process with Choate Custom Homes was pretty thorough, they make it easy for us to build our first custom home - they were great to work with! They made our home better than we ever anticipated it would be. If we were to ever build another house, we wouldn't have to think twice about using Choate Custom Homes again. Choate eased the custom building process.”

Garret and Carol Smith, Highland, MI

“We interviewed 5 or 6 builders and we chose Choate Custom Homes because of the way they did things... they made us feel like they were really going to take care of us and it turned out that way. I can't imagine using anybody else except Choate Custom Homes.”

Michelle Kalous and Ron Haskil, Webster, MI

“We chose Choate Custom Homes because we were looking for a real custom builder and Choate said they could give us exactly what we wanted. We had built two other houses prior to this home and always ran into difficulties with our builder in the other homes. One of the things that was wonderful about Choate is if there was something special we wanted in our home – they said it was no problem and they did it. If we were to build again I would certainly choose Choate Custom Homes. They made the custom building process very simple.”
